Grand heritage home in Darlinghurst's most gracious street. Renovated by Allen Jack Cottier, and then designer Donald Campbell, 13 Darley echoes the brownstones of New York, and town houses of London's West End. It is a warm home with expansive living spaces, generous kitchen, copious storage, large bedrooms, high ceilings, illuminated by skylights, and a central courtyard. Its garden serves as an oasis, shaded by jacaranda, eucalypt and palm trees. The City, Surry Hills, Potts Point, Rushcutters Bay, Paddington are all walking distance. Sitting on the crest of the Darlinghurst ridgeline surrounded by galleries, cafes, bars and restaurants, the sandstone of National Art School, and stately home Iona, 13 Darley delivers an extraordinary combination of elegance, location, scale, and serenity.
